Machine Gun Gang Gets $175,000 in Mill City Bank Raid

LINK NORTHWESTERN NAT'L HELD UP TODAY

Force 28 Employees to Line up Against Wall While Mates Loot All Places for Currency and Securities

Minneapolis, March 29.—(UP)—In a bank guarded with a modern alarm system, considered impregnable to robbery attempts, six dapper young men flourishing sub-machine guns, sawed-off shotguns and pistols today calmly walked through a holdup which netted them an estimated $175,000.

Bandits Watch Alarm System
Three of the 28 victims actually reached for alarm buttons that would have sent radio police squad cars speeding to the bank from every direction, but were sluggish or forced away from the buttons.

The holdup occurred at the North American branch of the Northwestern National Bank at Plymouth and Washington avenues, a business-residential district.

A seventh bandit sat at the wheel of a huge sedan. Before the astonished eyes of passersby the bandits loaded their loot into the automobile and finally drove away without anyone remembering which direction they had taken.

A hasty checkup after the holdup revealed that the loot included approximately $50,000 in cash and $125,000 in securities which had been placed with the bank by individuals for safe keeping. Half of these securities were believed non-negotiable.

State-wide Hunt
Police who immediately organized a state-wide search characterized the holdup as the most daring and carefully planned job in the city's history. It was believed the bandits were from some other part of the country and that the holdup was their sole aim in the state. The men were believed to have maintained headquarters at White Bear while studying their plans.

Attempts to set off an alarm which police claim would have alerted the bandits in the bank. Rome G. Gross, assistant manager of the bank, was the first to see the bandits. When they produced weapons from out of folded newspapers, he reached for the alarm button.

One of the bandits shoved his revolver at Gross so hard, the assistant manager was bowled over in his chair. His hand had already touched the alarm button when he was struck but had not set it off.

Warn Switchboard Operator

Michael Schutta, janitor, walked in on the bandits as he came up from the basement. Schutta sprang for an alarm button near where he stood. One of the bandits clubbed his shotgun and knocked Schutta to the floor.

Miss F. Weinard, telephone switchboard operator, sought to spend an alarm while a bandit stood over her but the bandit advanced his gun and shouted, "Keep your hands off that board."

Bonds, Stocks in Loot

The major portion of the loot consisted of bonds and stocks held for individuals by the bank in safe-keeping. These securities were held in safe-keeping by the bank but were not in the bank's safe deposit boxes. All of the loss is covered by a million dollar bond, bank officers said.

The bandits carried out the holdup according to a well arranged plan, according to Miss Weinard.

"I was in the back room when the bandits came into the bank," Miss Weinard said. "Apparently their plans included me as their first victim. Two of them made their presence known to me when they ordered me to 'take your hands away from that switchboard' and jammed a gun in my face."

"They went about scooping up money and bonds from all parts of the bank. None of them said very much except the man who was left to watch me who kept warning me not to get excited," Miss Weinard said.

"I turned about away from the switchboard so he wouldn't shoot and told him not to get excited. Then he got hard boiled and shouted for me to keep still."

Bandits Well Dressed

"All of the bandits were well dressed," she said. "Most of them seemed quite young. They had to pass me when they left the bank through the rear. None that I saw wore masks. I saw two machine guns, the rest had shotguns and revolvers."

Police said that the robbery was the most daring and largest from the standpoint of loot ever perpetrated in the Twin Cities.

Bank officials said that only about half of the securities held in safe-keeping and amounting to $125,000 would have a negotiable value. None of the collateral taken was negotiable.

COUPLE, SON TAKE LIVES WITH OPEN BIBLE BEFORE THEM

QUAKER MISSIONARY, WIFE AND 21-YEAR-OLD SON IN TRIPLE SUICIDE

Chicago, March 29.—(UP)—An open Bible spread before them, Horace Coleman, Quaker missionary, his wife and 21-year-old son clasped hands and ended their lives in a suicide pact.

The bodies were found in the Coleman's automobile in a private garage rented for the strange purpose a few hours before. Death was due to carbon monoxide fumes.

A letter written by the 64-year-old missionary and signed by himself, his wife and his son, Horace, Jr., a University of Chicago student, was found in the automobile.

"We don't want to be dressed or combed or fussed over," read the letter. "Just a sheet around us and a crematory as soon as possible."

supported by airplanes was dispatched. "We want to be cremated together and the ashes sent to the National Sunday School association in Tokio and scattered under the trees on our place—our summer home in Karuzana."

The triple suicide was revealed when Dr. E. D. Walker, lifelong friend of the missionary and his family, received a special delivery letter instructing him to care for the bodies.

MISSOURI DEMS IN CONCERTED PUSH FOR REED'S CANDIDACY

St. Louis, March 28.—(UP)—Former U. S. Senator James A. Reed was definitely in the Democratic presidential race today, supported wholeheartedly by Missouri's delegation to the national convention.

Missouri's favorite son, unsuccessful candidate for the nomination against former Gov. Alfred E. Smith in 1928, had asked that the state's 36 votes be pledged to him "all the way."

The convention was pro-Reed from the start, with 5,000 Kansas Citizens parading the streets and holding hotel lobby rallies in his support. T. J. Pendergast, Kansas City political leader, directed the Reed boom.

Reed, who comes out of semi-retirement to engage in occasional major court suits and trials, is in Rochester, Minn., recuperating from a recent major operation.

Pre-convention prophecies that supporters of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York would attempt to have the Missouri delegation pledged first to Reed and second to the New York governor failed to materialize. Roosevelt by long distance telephone personally requested his backers to do nothing to "embarrass" Reed or cause a split in Missouri's Democratic ranks.

FARMER-LABORITES HEAR FIERCE ATTACK HOOVER ADMINISTRATION AT CONVENTION

St. Paul, Mar. 29.—(UP)—William Lemke, North Dakota nonpartisan leader, today bitterly attacked President Hoover in the principal address of today's opening session of the farmer-labor indorsing convention.

Welch Sounds Good

"Four more years of Mr. Hoover, the stationary engineer and this country will go Indian," Lemke said. "It took Mr. Hoover two years to discover there was a world wide republican depression and when he discovered this fact, he tried to remedy it saying prosperity is around the corner."

A. C. Welch, Glencoe, president of the Minnesota Farmer-Labor association, called the convention to order. The convention was organized and work begun to plan the farmer-labor campaign for the November election. Endorsement of Gov. Floyd B. Olson for a second term was assured at a later meeting with a majority of delegates pledged to him.

City Pays Tribute Thursday Rites For Con O'Brien, Leading Citizen

All Brainerd today was shrouded in grief mourning in common regret the death of one of its outstanding citizens, a founder and builder of the city and, a man whose constant thought was the betterment and development of the place to which he dedicated his life's energy.

Such grief extended to all parts of the Northwest to people who associated his name and that of the city of Brainerd synonymously. Such was the character of Cornelius O'Brien, familiarly known as Con O'Brien, whose friends were countless extending from the prominent to the obscure.

Was Great Friend of Poor
Among the varied expressions of sympathy at his death was this one, unheralded and only known to Mr. O'Brien and unfortunates he has befriended, whom he cared for and imparted of his wonderful spirit to give them courage and help.

Many of Mr. O'Brien's good deeds to charity and the relief of others are well known to this city. But—countless of his good deeds have never been recorded nor will they ever be. Unbeknown even to members of his immediate family he provided aid in clothing and food to poor people of this city. It was a generosity such as few have known.

Immediate relatives completed today the arrangements for his burial—rites during which Brainerd will pause and consider his life anew and pay final tributes to his constancy of purpose in life, "peace and happiness to mankind."

The St. Francis Catholic church of which he was a faithful member, supporter and worker will be the scene of his final tribute.

The service will be conducted at 9 a. m. Thursday with Rev. Father James Hogan officiating. Burial rites will be conducted at Evergreen cemetery.

Nearly 50 Years in Business
Merchants will close their stores to pay in this tribute a small part of the great respect they hold for the man.

Mr. O'Brien knew and loved work throughout his years of adult life. The desire to mangle in the business enterprises no doubt shortened his life, but as his friends knew him, his happiness in that of his family, work and desire to assist others fully recompensed him and provided him happiness.

Among his great hopes and ambitions in life was only one he virtually failed to accomplish—that of completing 50 years of business life in Brainerd. Such an ambition would have been realized had he lived until May, 1933.

Active in Civic Affairs

He was active in numerous civic and organization groups in the city and even during the past year when he was warned to avoid undue exercise and to slacken his duties in his store, the O'Brien Mercantile Co., Mr. O'Brien could not refrain from attending to difficult business matters and in these matters his keen intelligent mind was always sought by his associates.

His death came Monday at 4:40 p. m. at his home, 307 1/2 South 8th street. Heart failure was the immediate cause of his death. He was reclining on a couch reminiscing with E. P. McCarthy, Minneapolis, an old friend. Passing his hand to his face and smiling faintly, he laid back on the couch. Knowing that his condition was critical Mr. McCarthy notified Mrs. O'Brien who in turn called members of the family residing in the city. These arrived at his bedside and were with him until his death.

ROOSEVELT OPENS DRIVE OUTSIDE N. Y. TWIN CITIES APRIL 20

St. Paul, March 29.—(UP)—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York will make his first speech outside of New York in his coming campaign for the Democratic party presidential nomination in the Twin Cities, Joseph Wolff, Staples, Democratic national committeeman, said today.

The speech will be made at a mass meeting of northwest Democrats on April 20. It had not been decided yet whether Roosevelt would speak in Minneapolis or St. Paul.

Because the speech will be the first on the governor's tour, Wolff said it may be considered his keynote speech. Further arrangements for Roosevelt's visit to the northwest will be made on April 4 when Wolff will confer with party leaders in Chicago.

The occasion will be a Jefferson day banquet, which is expected to be attended by 2,500 Democratic leaders from Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Montana, Iowa, Wisconsin and Nebraska.

Wolff will go to Chicago to take part in activities of the committee on arrangements for the national convention to which he was appointed yesterday. Mrs. Anna Struble of South Dakota is the other northwest member of the committee.

BUSINESS UPTREND HOPED FOR IN AUTO INDUSTRY CIRCLES

Detroit, March 29.—(UP)—Improvement in business, resulting from the drive of Ford, General Motors and other auto concerns for trade now that their new models are ready, is hoped for confidently in the automotive world today.

With Ford now definitely ready to show his new Eight on Thursday and with General Motors and others geared for heavy pushes, the business world today anticipated a stimulus not alone in Detroit but in other cities feeding supplies to the giant motor concerns.

With formal response to the new Ford bid it was estimated today that the present Ford payroll of 70,000 would be increased to around 100,000 soon. The peak number is 120,000.

Motor companies are estimated to have more than $1,000,000,000 invested in this year's bid for business.

General Motors is making a renewed drive for the favor of the public in a super-sales organization announced Sunday and combining the selling efforts as well as the manufacturing work of Buick, Olds and Pontiac in the medium priced field.

Independent companies are driving ahead with renewed activities.

BELIEVE ENVOYS ARE "TALKING BUSINESS" WITH THE KIDNAPERS

REV. PEACOCK, SPOKESMAN FOR NEGOTIATORS, RETURNS TO NORFOLK BY PLANE

Norfolk, Va., March 29.—(UP)—The Rev. H. Dodson Peacock returned to Norfolk by airplane today after conferring Monday with Col. Charles A. Lindbergh on matters concerning the kidnapping of Col. Lindbergh's son.

Peacock is one of three local men who believe they have established contact with the kidnapers. He landed at the naval air base after a flight from the Philadelphia naval base.

Refuses Statement

Norfolk, Va., March 29.—(UP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and men who claim to be kidnapers of his 21-month-old son are "talking business," it was believed here today on the strength of reports from Dean H. Dodson Peacock at Hopewell.

The dean talked to John H. Curtis, local ship builder, who, with Rear Admiral Guy Burrage, is assisting in the negotiations. Curtis refused to say if he still believed the curly-haired baby would be "returned to his parents soon."

And Colonel H. Norman Schwartzkopf, of the New Jersey state police, said after the conference at Hopewell: "Colonel Lindbergh does not believe the information obtained at Norfolk to be of specific significance in this case."

Dean Dodson Peacock denied published reports he was carrying little Charles Augustus, Jr.'s, sleeping garment or any other bit of evidence from the kidnapers. And Curtis admitted "I have not seen the Lindbergh child alive."

Convinced of Sincerity

He did not say how the negotiators were convinced of the sincerity of the group with whom they are dealing. Curtis revealed that newspaper publicity given the negotiations last week frightened the group away, but he re-established contact on his mysterious week-end trip.

"All I can say for publication," he was quoted, "is that we from Norfolk are still optimistic. I talked with Colonel Lindbergh for half an hour but everything that transpired was in confidence. I feel very optimistic."

May Return to Hopewell

When asked if Colonel Lindbergh felt optimistic, the dean replied: "You'll have to ask him that."

He told newspaper men at Trenton on his way back he might return to Hopewell in a few days, and that Curtis and Burrage might accompany him.

REPORT PROGRESS IN SEAWAY PACT DRAFT

Washington, March 29.—(UP)—American officials said today that negotiations with Canada regarding the proposed St. Lawrence waterway had reached the point where there was hope of beginning work on a draft treaty within two weeks.

Officials refused to discuss details of the negotiations. They said there had been no formal agreement on the engineering details at issue, but that recent exchanges of views revealed that the two countries were approaching an understanding.

Because the St. Lawrence is an international waterway, a United States-Canadian treaty will be necessary before the proposed waterway, connecting the Atlantic with the Great Lakes ports, can be dredged.

Depression "On His Nerves", Ex-Head Auto Firm Kills Self

Cleveland, March 29.—(UP)—A note explaining that the depression "has gotten on my nerves" was found beside the body of Lewis H. Kirtledge, former president of the Peerless Motor Car Co., who shot and killed himself at his home yesterday. A revolver was clutched in his hand.

SOVIET ATTITUDE CHANGE PROMPTS JAPANESE ACTION

JAP INFANTRY MOVES AGAINST BANDS OF CHINESE IRREGULARS IN MANCHURIA

Harbin, Manchuria, March 29.—(UP)—A large force of Japanese infantry supported by airplanes was dispatched from Changchun, capital of the new Manchurian state, to Nungun today to free that city from irregular Chinese bandits.

Reports from Changchun said a

Shanghai, March 29.—(UP)—Peace negotiations between the Chinese and Japanese were in a deadlock today as the negotiators considered five articles drawn up as a basis for the agreement.

The five points were:
1. Cessation of hostilities.
2. Chinese troops will not advance.
3. Japanese troops will withdraw under terms to be agreed upon later.

4. Creation of a joint evacuation commission.
5. That the agreement will be operative from the time both the Chinese and Japanese delegates sign.

The negotiators today initiated the first agreement.

large guerilla force had been driven back during the night and that the fresh Japanese forces would attempt to clear them from the Nungun territory. Japanese said the attackers were soldier-bandits. Some Chinese claimed they were Chinese patriots trying to overthrow the new Manchurian regime headed by Henry Puayi and established under Japanese tutelage.

The Japanese previously had dispersed about 1,500 Chinese who had surrounded pro-Japanese troops of the Kirin provincial government.

The "new" and "old" Kirins, the latter still loyal to the Chinese government, have engaged in sporadic fighting for several weeks.

The attitude of Soviet circles here on the possibility of Russia fighting to keep the Chinese Eastern railroad has changed radically due to recent developments. Formerly expressing the opinion that the Moscow government would not consider fighting, Russians now say that the railway is their and that they will not brook interference.

There is no doubt that Russian troop concentrations have been increased on the Siberian-Manchurian frontier, but official information cannot be obtained. Gen. Hasbe's statement that Japan does not want to quarrel with the Soviets is greatly discounted in view of the troop movements, because such heavy concentrations are not required for protection of Japanese interests only.

OIL STOVE BLAST WIPES OUT FAMILY

Detroit, March 29.—(UP)—Four persons, the entire family of Oliver Stewart, were killed instantly today when a home-made oil burner exploded in their small garage home at Lincoln Park.

Flames were shooting from the windows and doors of the small structure when firemen arrived. The fire extinguished, firemen found the bodies of Stewart, 45; his wife, Mamie, and their two children, Mamie, 4, and Thomas, 3.

Washington, March 29.—(UP)—The house today adopted the amendment to the revenue bill placing excise taxes on automobiles, trucks and accessories.

In swift order the following amendments also were adopted by the house:
Furs, 10 per cent; sporting goods and cameras, 10 per cent; candy, 5 per cent; radios and phonographs, 5 per cent; matches, 4 cents per 1,000; and motorboats and yachts, 10 per cent above $15 value.

Garner in Dramatic Appeal

Washington, March 29.—(UP)—Speaker of the house John N. Garner made a dramatic personal plea to the house today for support of a tax bill to balance the budget.

Deserting the speaker's chair, the Texan took the floor amid a great demonstration on both sides of the aisle.

"When I was elected speaker it was my purpose to preside over the house impartially and fairly," Garner began.

He explained it had been his intention not to take the floor at all this session but that he had resorted to this unusual practice because of his long experience with tax matters as a member of the ways and means committee.

Garner said that he had prepared a speech on taxes before this session began, even before the administration had decided for a tax increase, in which he had urged the balancing of the budget but he never delivered it.

"It was suggested by some of my colleagues that the Democrats of house and senate should get together to adopt a policy of balancing the budget," he said, explaining the formation of the so-called policy committee.

This committee, he added, went unanimously on record for balancing the budget.

Must Adopt Increase

"I believed it then—and I believe it now—that the house must adopt an increase of taxes that would maintain the credit of the United States in the eyes of the world."

There was a unanimity among Republican and Democratic leaders to write an "American bill, a non-partisan bill," Garner told the house.

The speaker defended his support of the sales tax, recently eliminated from the bill.

Garner said he had been opposed to a sales tax always.

"I am now opposed to a sales tax," he continued, "but, gentlemen, now in order to restore confidence of this country I would levy the worst kind of taxes."

"I appeal to you, gentlemen, not only in the name of my party, but in the name of my country that it is your paramount duty to raise sufficient taxes to maintain the credit of the country."

JAP FLIER PLANNING TRANS-PACIFIC HOP KILLED TRIAL SPIN

New York, March 29.—(UP)—Capt. Y. Nagoya, Japanese aviator who was preparing a Bellanca monoplane for trans-Pacific flight, was killed today when the plane nose-dived into the water beyond the northwest end of Floyd Bennett airport.

Captain Nagoya took off from the airport a few minutes before the crash for Newcastle, Del. The plane was demolished.

Captain Nagoya was one of three Japanese fliers who had been planning first a non-stop flight across the continent to the Pacific coast and then a hop across the ocean. His companions were Kanekichi Asai and Retsu Kuyosawa, the latter a correspondent for a Japanese newspaper which was sponsoring the projected flight.

The plane was of a similar type to that used by Hugh Herndon, Jr., and Clyde Pangborn in their round-the-world flight last year.

Nagoya took off for New Castle, where the Bellanca factory is located, to have the ship inspected. He had attained an altitude of about 200 feet when the plane nose dived into a creek about half a mile north of the airport.

SCALLON EXPLAINS INCOME TAXATION

Representative E. P. Scallon, Crosby, talked before the Brainerd Rotary Club today, explaining the general system of state taxes, also the state income tax to be voted upon next fall.

Scallon said the state attorney general's department had already ruled that an income tax was legal without an amendment but sanction of it at the election would eliminate any question as to the constitutionality of any income tax law passed by the legislature.

"This amendment does not provide for the replacement of any general property tax now existing," he said.

His talk was concluded by an open discussion when he cleared up many misunderstandings relative to state taxation.

SEES COOLIDGE AS PROSPECT IN 1936

Cambridge, Mass., March 29.—(U.P.)—Professor Arthur N. Holcombe, writing in the Harvard Crimson, declared that Calvin Coolidge was "an excellent (presidential) prospect for 1936, whether Hoover wins or loses this year."

"The conjecture may be safely hazarded that Coolidge would like to be president again," Holcombe, who is professor of government at Harvard, wrote. "He enjoyed his first two terms of office, and being still in his fifties, may not unreasonably look forward to another term in the White House."

Holcombe said Mr. Coolidge's "problem" was much like that of Theodore Roosevelt after his retirement from the presidency in 1909, but that Mr. Coolidge "will not repeat Roosevelt's mistakes." He said it was possible, however, that the world will have moved ahead so far by 1936 "that Coolidge will be out of date."

DULUTH SPEAKERS UPHOLD NEED FOR CREDIT CHECKING

The Brainerd Credit Bureau held a meeting at Archer's Cafe Monday. George Fairley, secretary-manager of the Duluth Retail Credit Association talking on "Service Your Local Bureau Could Give You With the Membership."

"Every merchant shall list his ninety day delinquent accounts with the bureau for information, not collection. The bureau will in turn compile this information showing you the name of your customer, the number of accounts he is owing and his total indebtedness in your community. This will help to thaw out the frozen credit accounts of your merchants," Fairley said.

James Hart, of Duluth Ice & Fuel Company, gave the merchants' viewpoint of benefits of a credit bureau. He stated, "you will get out of the bureau just what you put into it." He showed how their firm had cut their losses by checking every account in their books with the Duluth Retail Credit Bureau giving the bureau a full report on all their new accounts, closed accounts, repossessions, non sufficient checks, etc.

James Dugan, credit manager of Speakes & Company, Superior, talked on the value of a credit bureau to the merchants and community. He defined credit as the power to obtain goods or service by giving promise to pay on demand or at a specified time in the future. He stressed the necessity of belonging to a credit bureau, for if intelligently credit granting is not practiced a business is short lived.

"The credit bureau is the blood stream of business to any concern, for the day of hit and miss credit granting is past and it is no longer necessary to carry on your books, slow pays, bad pays and want papers or customers who have the habit of the return merchandise evil. Every customer may be checked through your local bureau and by the proper use of credit machinery there is no doubt that merchants can train their customers into better ways of buying. It helps to carry a notation on your letter heads that you are affiliated with an organization such as a local credit bureau, for it has a marked effect on the paying habits of your customers, as he knows that his credit record with you is also known by every member of your bureau," Dugan said.

A committee of six from Staples including Hoening, Tower, Miller, Schultze, Sims and Hurd attended this meeting and spent the afternoon in the office of the Brainerd Credit Bureau obtaining information for organizing a bureau at Staples. This bureau will be formed in the near future.

The speakers and Miss G. P. McCabe, local secretary attended a dinner meeting at Crosby of the Cuyuna Range Credit Bureau. This bureau was organized in January this year, and Miss Laurayne Graham, secretary, has a successful bureau at the present time. The meeting turned into an open forum or quiz and some mighty important credit questions were answered by Fairley and the other speakers.

Public Life Well Known
The chronology of the life of Mr. O'Brien never can be fully recorded. Many of his fine deeds, acts and experiences in life will never be heard in full. However his public life as a citizen of Brainerd is well known.

His obituary record reveals that he was born in Bridgeport, Conn., November 24, 1854, and that he spent his early youth in Berlin, Wis. When about 20 years of age, he moved to Stillwater, Minn., where he was married in 1880 to Miss Matilda McElroy. To this union were born seven children, James W., Bertram H., Mabel, Giles P., Maude, Juel and Cornelius, Jr.

Mrs. O'Brien died in Brainerd on January 28, 1893, and three years later Mr. O'Brien was married to Miss Elizabeth Minogue. To this marriage six children were born, Earl J., George F., Mildred M., Harriet, Edward Thomas, and Alice M.

Mr. O'Brien moved to Brainerd in 1882 and established himself in a retail business which first dealt extensively in logging. He founded the O'Brien Mercantile company, Brainerd's largest department store, in about 1900; O'Brien and Sons, wholesale grocers, in 1922, and had extensive real estate holdings in the city and county.

Brainerd is indebted to Mr. O'Brien among many other interests for the attractive gateway to Gregory Park. The gateway is virtually a memorial to his life and his unstinting labors to promote Brainerd's welfare and future.

Mr. O'Brien was twice elected mayor to the city of Brainerd, was honored by being elected unanimously, one of the first "Dads" of that organization, was a member of the State Board of Appraisals during the governorship of John A. Johnson, and was a delegate to the democratic national convention in Baltimore in 1912.

The Brainerd Chamber of Commerce respected highly his advice in matters in their jurisdiction. He was a charter member of the Chamber and a past president of it and one of its most loyal members. He was also a charter member of the A. O. H.

The Brainerd Credit Bureau of which he was a member and a past president today announced the following resolution signed by its officials:

"Because of the death of Cornelius O'Brien, a prominent citizen and active worker in all civic matters, we, the directors of the Brainerd Credit Bureau deem it advisable and proper that all stores within the city of Brainerd should close in his honor.

"Therefore be it resolved by this board that all business places be requested to close during the funeral of our friend Con O'Brien.

"In compliance with this resolution

TRANS-CONTINENTAL LINE IN NORTHWEST NEXT STEP AIR PLAN

Washington, March 29.—The next major step in development of the national air mail system, according to plans of the post office department, will be completion of a fourth transcontinental route, connecting the northwest with the southeast.

Departmental approval, however, is not enough to assure completion of this line within the near future. Congress must provide funds, not only for establishment of the new airways but also to meet the deficit which such a new line probably would incur, and congress is in no mood now to make such expenditures.

The northwest of the line would be completed by extending to the Pacific coast the line which now ends at Bismarck, N. D. This probably will be the next air mail extension. The planes would leave St. Paul, cross Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana, and Idaho, and go on to Spokane and Seattle, Wash.

The proposed course from the Great Lakes area southeast would extend from Detroit to Columbus, Cincinnati, Louisville, Nashville, Memphis and Atlanta, there joining lines extending to Florida and connecting with the South American service.

When Postmaster General Brown appeared before the House postoffice committee he said the department felt that seven new lines were needed to complete the air mail system. Most important of these, according to his testimony, was the extension into the northwest.

all business places in the city of Brainerd are requested to close between the hours of 8:30 a. m. and 11 a. m. on Thursday, March 31, out of respect for the memory of Con O'Brien.

Although Mr. O'Brien had been failing for the past two years, his death came as a distinct shock to all. He is survived by his wife, Elizabeth, his sons, James W., Giles P., Cornelius, Jr., Earl J., George F., and Edward Thomas, all of Brainerd, and his daughters, Mabel O'Brien Smith and Mildred of Brainerd, Mrs. R. L. Siehl of Minneapolis, Sister M. Kathleen of Duluth, and Mrs. Theodore Ryan of Hutchinson, Kansas.

BITUMINOUS GRAVEL FOR 20 MILES T. H. 2, BRAINERD-AITKIN, THIS YEAR

BEGIN WORK APRIL; OPEN GRAVEL BIDS IN CITY TOMORROW

TOTAL ESTIMATED COST $30,000;
ENTIRE STATE WORK 354
MILES

The 20 miles of state trunk highway No. 2, Brainerd to Aitkin, not already paved or surfaced with tar or oil, will receive this year a gravel base with bituminous oil or tar, the former more probable, officials of the Minnesota Highway department announced today.

Open Bids Here Tomorrow
Definite constructive measures towards the immediate improvement of the heavily traversed highway were seen with the announcement that bids will be opened tomorrow at the district office of the Minnesota Highway department here for graveling the stretch.

District Highway Engineer A. W. Moulster will open the bids for the gravel work, the furnishing, screening and placing of the gravel. The time of the opening of bids is set for 10 a. m. Final approval of the successful bidder will be given by the state office officials at St. Paul.

Bituminous Bids Opened
Bids for the bituminous treatment to cover this gravel have already been opened in St. Paul but officials are reserving the announcement of the successful bidder for the near future to complete the grading of the bids.

Since the use of bituminous oil is approximately $500 less expensive than bituminous tar and since the oil treatment has reached the position where it is nearly as practicable, officials of the department were of the opinion that bituminous oil would be selected for the surfacing process.

Highway Paving in 1933
As officials visualize the improvement of the highway to meet traffic demands, the highway will be paved during 1933.

An estimated cost of $1,500 a mile was placed on the bituminous gravel work, thus placing the cost of the 20 miles at approximately $30,000.

Work Starts at Brainerd
Sections of the highway classified in the 20 miles to receive the bituminous gravel work are from Northeast Brainerd at the junction of Third avenue to five miles south of Ironton and from one mile east of Deerwood to Aitkin. The total mileage between Brainerd and the shorter T. H. No. 2 route is 28 miles. The five miles of the highway south of Ironton is at present a hard surface of bituminous treatment. The highway between Crosby and Deerwood is paved. Construction work on the one mile east of Deerwood remains to be completed.

Graveling April 10 to May 5
Placing of gravel will be required of the contractor between April 10 and May 5, officials said. The bituminous treatment will follow, either in June or July, highway department men said.

State Program 354 Miles
The Brainerd to Aitkin work is part of the Minnesota Highway department's program for bituminous gravel work this summer. Projects throughout the state will cover 354 miles of trunk highways on which bids were taken March 24 for furnishing oil, tar, or asphalt, and distributing it on the road surface.

Prices on Average Lower
In addition to the 354 miles of new work, bids were taken at the same time on retreatment of 1,065 miles previously treated. Estimated requirements for this work were 12,034,000 gallons of material. Tabulation of bids has not been completed, but a partial checking of the bids indicated that prices will, average lower than last year.

Bids will be taken later on a number of additional new treatment projects. The department plans to treat all gravel roads which are graded and in condition for treatment and which are not scheduled for paving in the near future. In a few cases where traffic is heavy, a light treatment will be applied on routes which are on the paving program for the next year or two, as a means of carrying traffic until the new grade is settled.

Under the method of bituminous gravel treatment used in Minnesota, a re-treatment is nearly always required a year after the first treatment. After this treatment may be omitted every third year, but this rotation varies somewhat with the traffic and the condition of the subgrade. The average cost of new treatment in 1931 was $1,307 per mile, using an average of 14,000 gallons per mile and treating 30 feet wide. The average cost of retreatments was $761. The department believes that over a period of years the cost of bituminous treatment and maintenance on roads with medium heavy traffic will be less than the cost of maintaining and frequent regaveling of untreated gravel roads under the same traffic conditions, and give better service.

Highways to Be Treated
The sections of highway on which bids were taken on new treatment are as follows:

T. H. No. 1—Cross River to Lutsen, 11.2 miles.

T. H. No. 2—Brainerd to Aitkin, 20 miles.

T. H. No. 6—Wheaton to Ortonville, 35.9 miles.

T. H. No. 7—Rochester belt line, 3 miles.

T. H. No. 9—At Worthington, 1.6 miles.

TANK CORPS FOR CITY UNLIKELY AT TIME, HIGH OFFICIAL SAYS

Possibility of Brainerd securing a tank corps unit appeared unlikely today when information from an unimpeachable source was obtained by The Daily Dispatch to the effect that "it is apparent that there will be no funds available during the fiscal year for the organization of any new units during the year in the United States." Considerable agitation for a tank corps had become apparent in Brainerd with the organization of the Reserve Officers' association. However, from high authority comes the word that "we shall be very fortunate if our present activities are not curtailed." The authority for this statement calls attention to the fact that the war department appropriation bill has not as yet been reported out of committee. "We, nevertheless, have been given to understand that there will be a reduction in the total amount appropriated with the said committee," he said.

LEGION TO HELP OBSERVE "BOYS' WEEK" IN APRIL

POSTS ARE CREATING "BOY INTEREST" IN MANY WAYS

That Minnesota Legionnaires are vitally interested in the boys of the state is evident from their year-round program, Oscar F. Youngdahl of Minneapolis, department commander, said last week in discussing plans for the observance of National Boys' Week from April 25 to May 2.

"While our 468 Minnesota posts will do their part in creating 'boy interest' during this special week, our program is planned to encourage boys at all times and to continually help in the development of the leaders of tomorrow," Commander Youngdahl remarked.

"Our department Americanism chairman, Glen Otis of Harmony, is supplying all posts with a suggested program for Boys' Week, including a special feature for each day. If a post cannot carry out all features, as many as possible will be sponsored."

In Boy Scout work, declares Commander Youngdahl, the Legion is guiding hundreds of troops. Another way in which Legionnaires are encouraging tomorrow's leaders is by offering school medals in grade and high schools for all-round efforts. These medals are awarded at special public ceremonies attended by the students and their parents.

"Our state safety chairman, F. Ben Andren of New Ulm, announces formation of over 100 local school police patrols," Mr. Youngdahl continued. "But we are not neglecting the recreational angle either, for our department chairman of athletics, Frank McCormick of Minneapolis, head baseball coach and assistant football coach at the Minnesota university, has just issued instructions to all Minnesota posts, calling for more Gopher teams of Junior Legion baseball players this year than ever—and last year we had over 400."

Loyalty to flag and country, reverence for God, appreciation for the benefits of education, love of home and family, games and outdoor recreation to develop healthy bodies, scout work and school patrol duties to foster a sense of responsibility—these are the ideas back of the Legion's program.

COUNTY ASSESSING SYSTEM ADVOCATED TAXPAYERS HEAD

REED URGES REPLACEMENT OF LOCAL ASSESSORS BY COUNTY PLAN

Minneapolis, March 29.—(U.P.)—Replacement of local assessors by a unit of the Minnesota Taxpayers' association assessing system was advocated today by James F. Reed, president, in a regular radio address sponsored by the association.

Discrimination between individuals, localities and properties is as certain under our present system as taxes are themselves, Reed said.

"All too often the local assessor deems that he serves best the voters who elect him, by placing a low valuation on all property in his district, thereby increasing the burden of all those who live outside his district," Reed said.

"Ultimately, the procedure develops into a contest between districts each seeking to relieve itself of a portion of the tax burden at the expense of its neighbors."

Reed advocated repealing or amending laws which provide for the present system of local assessors. Legislation was urged to provide assessment districts large enough to finance employment of experts, competent, trained and experienced as full time employees.

"Preferably the assessors should be appointed for an indefinite term from a civil service list," Reed said. "Taxable property can only be justifiably assessed by a highly qualified expert."

SEES IMPETUS TO RAIL TRAFFIC THRU RATE INDUCEMENTS

Travel developments this year will result in a heavy movement of passengers through the northwest to the Pacific northwest, in the opinion of C. L. Townsend, of Seattle, Wash., general passenger agent for the Northern Pacific railway. The lowest round trip rates in history from eastern points, the lowest coach and tourist car fares ever offered from Chicago west, the removal of a differential which permits California travelers to travel through the northwest without additional expense either going or coming, a large number of conventions in the Pacific coast area and an especial appeal to vacationists to visit the Mt. Rainier area with its new gateway from Yakima, Olympic Peninsula resorts and Mt. Baker, all are factors which, he said he believed, would result in an impetus to rail travel. The Pacific northwest vacation resorts, Mr. Townsend said while in St. Paul, all are making preparations for an unusually busy season. Many of the delegates to conventions in the west plan to stop off at these vacation resorts, their bookings indicate, he said. The northwest area has had abundant rains this year and the resort country will be especially inviting to tourists, in his opinion.

G.O.P. SLATE HEADED BY BROWN FILES IN BODY FOR PRIMARY

St. Paul, Minn., March 28.—(U.P.)—Headed by Earle Brown, Republican endorsee for governor in the state primary election, candidates of the Republican party's endorsed slate filed in a body today for the primary.

The following names were filed: Earl Brown, Minneapolis, governor; T. Otto Streissguth, New Ulm, lieutenant governor; Mike Holm, Roseau, secretary of state; Julius A. Schmah, St. Paul, state treasurer; Henry N. Benson, St. Peter, attorney general, and Oscar A. Swenson, Nicolet, railroad and warehouse commissioner.

After filing, the candidates went to the party's headquarters at the invitation of State Senator Charles N. Orr, St. Paul, convention chairman, for a conference on the selection of a group to handle the primary campaign.

The March 19 state Republican convention asked Orr to name such a group.

CONGREGATION DIVIDED IN DISPUTE OVER ATHLETICS AS PART OF CHURCH PROGRAM

Chicago, Mar. 25.—(U.P.)—The members of the Rogers Park Congregational church divided into two groups today in a dispute over the propriety of athletics and other recreation as a part of the church program.

The 300 younger members of the church were backing their Sunday school teacher, Dr. Howard Dabbs, a physician, whose resignation has been demanded. Their elders, almost to a man, were on the other side.

Secession of the youngsters to form their own church where they could have their own way was threatened. The climax will come on Easter Sunday when Dr. Dabbs said he would conduct his Bible class for the last time. He intimated he might lead the class from church.

Dr. Dabbs, who has conducted the church activities for its boy and girl members, declared that many of the older members were "too old fashioned."

They objected, he said, to athletics, dances and plays, and even criticized the Bible class paper when it made use of the word "follow."

Dr. Dabbs said the religious education committee, of which Dr. Frank L. Knapp is chairman, asked him to resign "secretely," effective Sunday.

Spotlights on Vehicles Must be Used Discreetly

Spotlights on vehicles are permitted but when they become hazards to drivers of other vehicles on the highway their use is in violation of law, Minnesota Highway Patrol officers said today.

One arrest for illegal use of a spotlight was made over the week end, the driver being fined $5. Another driver paid a fine of $2 for failure to have the rear light on his car shining.

According to the law, drivers are not permitted to focus spotlights at a distance of more than 100 feet on the highway and they must keep the beam to the right side of highway particularly when vehicles are approaching.

THE CEMETERY—AN AMERICAN INSTITUTION—

Great efforts to perpetuate the memory of persons, great days in history, memorable achievements, accomplishments have brought about the establishment of civic centers and other monumental toga. This practice has become an international institution just as our cemeteries on which more stress has been placed in recent years as a fitting and commemorative resting place for our loved ones. Modern times have brought great changes in our cemeteries. They differ vastly both in material and spiritual significance from the "graveyards" of the passing century. They are an American institution.

Usually combining the solace of secluded estates, the American cemetery is being embellished in beautification to lend a feeling of contentment. They are a sacred spot dedicated to the burial of our dead. A peculiarly spiritual atmosphere permeates them and they blend the rightful air of contemplation and meditation.

This is typical of the Evergreen cemetery—Brainerd's community institution dedicated to this purpose. It has evolved from a little knoll into a peaceful hillside of reflection. It has become, through the careful administration of an efficient board of trustees, a permanent institution that holds an all-important place in the physical make-up of the city.

In the early days of the state with isolated country districts, schools within walking distance of the farms, bottomless roads in bad weather, the graveyards were usually located in places which could be reached on foot or by carriages. Paved and graveled roads have changed most of the pioneer conditions, schools and churches are farther apart, and there is a tendency also for the really permanent cemeteries to be located near the towns. When land was cheap and selling for a few dollars an acre, graveyard lots were almost given away. Perhaps somebody went once a year with a scythe and cut down the long grass. The conditions of today are changing all this. It is realized that in the cemetery as everywhere else, failure and abandonment are certain unless a common sense system of upkeep insures a decent and respectful condition of our burial places.

It is for this reason that the administration of a cemetery calls for good management, which is best secured through a board of trustee of competent men, the same as in the schools, libraries, etc. The men of the Evergreen cemetery board receive no pay. They consider membership on a cemetery board as a community service. When such a board becomes acquainted with its problems as happened in our own city it finds there is no way of mowing lawns, keeping up driveways, fences, and many other things by magic. It takes work and material together with supervision and that costs money the same as in any other business.

Cemeteries are full of sentiment, but it takes more than emotion to maintain the grounds. In justice and fairness to all it should be the pride of all lot owners to care for their lots personally or by the payment of a small annual fee, but, still better, by payment of a fee for perpetual care; and so each one helps to preserve the natural beauty of our cemetery.

Life is likened to a lane lined with trees. The trees are years. We pass them by, one by one. At the end of the lane stands a gateway through which all that is mortal must pass. Beyond lies . . . The family lot that is well cared for helps to preserve for all time the memory of our loved ones.

GANGSTERS AND THE "400"

If you haven't a gangster or two on your calling list you simply aren't one of the best people these days.

Writing in the New York World-Telegram, Helen Worden recently pointed out that metropolitan high society has been cultivating underworld leaders in a big way of late.

Men whose names are notorious throughout the United States have entered into some of the nation's most exclusive homes. Rum-runners, murderers, heads of "vice syndicates"—which is probably the world's dirtiest business—gamblers, fixers, rogues of all varieties and degrees, have got on more or less intimate terms with some of the people who are supposed to be the finest flower of American civilization.

Miss Worden remarks that it causes little comment in New York to see a member of the "400" in company with a gangster. Some gangsters, in fact, have their homes on Park avenue, supposedly the toniest street in the country.

All of this casts a pretty revealing light on the standards and values current in high society.

A wealthy leisure class, in any civilization, justifies its existence—like everything else in this world—by its works. It exists by virtue of the fact that a great many people live in poverty and want. If it gives society compensating factors in return, a rough sort of balance is struck; if not, some sort of readjustment is inevitable.

The American leisure class, at best, has never given a return equal to that of leisure classes in European countries. In the arts, in statesmanship, in industrial leadership it has been painfully sterile. A clan like the Adams family is the exception where it ought to be the rule.

This class today seems to be bent on giving a new demonstration of its utter uselessness, its complete lack of a social conscience. Its leaders ought to remember that sooner or later human society has a way of abolishing things which serve no good purpose.

With the price of cream down to a low level, cream checks to farmers in this locality do not begin to reach the size they did in other years.

Cream prices paid by the Farmers' Cooperative Creamery association in Brainerd range around 22 cents a pound for sweet cream delivered to the plant and 19 cents a pound for sour cream.

RELICS INCREASED AT COUNTY MUSEUM

The visitors register at the museum of the Crow Wing County Historical Society showed points of interest yesterday. Among the names of nearly a hundred people who attended yesterday were found "old timers," including Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Herbert, Mrs. C. C. Bowen, Mrs. W. P. Raymond, Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Nelson, Mrs. Joseph Leitner, and others who have been even longer in residence here. There were also out of the city visitors, notably Mr. and Mrs. Jack Douth from the Hawaiian Islands.

A recent acquisition to the collection of exhibits is a fishing-rod, of the sort that was once considered the last word in a fisherman's outfit. It is donated by Henry I. Cohen. It is a twelve-foot rod, of four sections, the finest bamboo, except the butt, which is of lancewood. It was made in England, purchased in London by the late Dr. J. L. Camp, and used by him for salmon-trout in Norway, many years ago, while on a European tour.

Young Claude Nelson, of North First street, brought in a "boom-chain" yesterday, as his gift to the museum. This is a device of the sort used to fasten together the outer legs of the booms which were towed across lakes and ponds in the spring drive. It consists of two heavy spikes, fastened together by a short length of heavy chain. The spikes were driven into the ends of adjacent logs. The museum authorities are grateful to find the youngsters developing this spirit of co-operation in the matter of preserving such things.

H. Turcotte has presented a splendid example of the old Enfield rifle, made in England from 1855 to 1868, and furnished by that country to the Confederacy during the Civil war. Many of these guns were, after the war, remodeled to the "Zulu" type, a fine example of which, presented to the society by J. C. Hayes, through Carl Wright, is also the property of the society.

Mrs. Lily Ericson has generously added three more articles to the Indian relics collected by the late George Ericson. These are a fine copper spear-point, also one of pipestone, and a hammer-like object made from the marvelous cuttings of a beaver.

LUNDBORG'S

The dime-a-dance girl

BEGIN HERE TODAY

ELLEN ROSSITER, beautiful 20-year-old, falls in love with LARRY BARLOW, young artist whom she meets at Dreamland, a dance hall where she works as hostess. Larry is engaged to ELIZABETH ROYCE, debutante, but pays attention to Ellen until his fiancée returns from Europe.

Believing Larry is lost to her, Ellen agrees to marry STEVEN BARCLAY, 57 years old and wealthy, who has paid hospital expenses for her brother, MIKE, injured in a street accident. Ellen knows such a marriage will provide for her mother, MARY ROSSITER, and make it possible for her sister, MYRA, to marry HERB ARMSTRONG.

Barclay has been married and divorced. Scandal accompanied his divorce from LENA GRAYSON, dancer, and, fearing this talk may be revived, he and Ellen agree to keep their marriage secret until they sail for Europe. Barclay wants to settle a fortune on Ellen but she persuades him to wait until after the ceremony. Barclay's lawyer, SYMES, regards Ellen as a gold-digger.

In a double marriage in a small Connecticut town Barclay and Ellen and Myra and Armstrong are married. They depart and almost immediately Syms arrives, demanding to see Barclay. No one knows where the couple have gone.

Barclay and Ellen drive to Barclay's Long Island home. The girl reads in a newspaper that Larry's engagement to Elizabeth Royce is broken. She is terrified to be alone with Barclay, suggests they go to a supper club to dance. They return late and Barclay leaves his bride, saying he will return.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXVII

ELLEN walked through the bedroom and out on the balcony. She looked down toward the ground, pale in the starlight, and thought that if she jumped she would be dead.

Then, because she was afraid, she ran inside. She did not want to die. She wanted to live and knew that in spite of everything she hoped Larry would come to her tonight instead of Steven.

She got up and took off her dancing frock. It fell to the floor and she left it there, shining in a pool of light. She dropped off her chemise and stood naked in the splendid room. Her body was hard and beautiful and glowed with tawny lights and with strange undertones of green like the green sometimes seen on canvas.

She stood silent a moment and thought how strange a thing and how terrible a thing was desire. No matter how much she might long to be its master she must remain its servant. She still wanted Larry and felt in her knowledge a kind of cold despair.

In a passion of fear she ran to the bed, seized her pajamas and jerked them on.

She heard a knock at the door. "Just a minute," she called out. Ellen slipped her feet into mules, wrapped the flowing negligee about her so that her throat was hidden and her arms and even her bare feet. Only her enormous, terrified eyes seemed visible.

"It's Steven," she heard through the door.

The knob turned slowly and the door opened. Steven stepped into the room. As he entered he was thinking that Ellen was a child, that she must be frightened and that he must treat her gently. When he saw her wrapped in the rosy robe, her hair a golden aureole, all his preconceived plans went down before her beauty.

It seemed to him that he saw her for the first time and that he was not an old man with a heart that was an old crock, but, instead, that this beautiful woman who was his wife had by some magic made him young. All that he could remember was that she was his wife and that he had come to claim her love.

She raised her arms almost as if to fend him off but the rosy robe fell away at the shoulders so that he saw the flesh beneath and was filled with desire. She was in his arms. Her body arched back in a spasm of terror and the robe slid away and to the floor as his kisses fell upon her throat and shoulders.

She was thinking that this would kill her and that if she screamed no one would hear. This man was not Steven Barclay at all! He swung her to his arms and carried her across the room to the golden bed. She felt his body pressed against hers and knew that she was fainting. She thought she heard a scream and then a soft bump just as dark fog seemed to fill the room, blotting out the rosy lights.

SHE came to consciousness crying hysterically. Then she realized that Steven had fallen to the floor and that that was the sound she had heard. She saw him lying, white and quiet, beside the bed. Ellen, frightened and sick with horror, flung herself to the floor beside him, calling out his name again and again.

He did not answer.

She thought, "He is my husband and I've killed him." She knelt shivering by his side and tried to feel his pulse and did not know whether or not she felt a flutter. But when she laid her hand upon his heart she was sure she discerned a muffled beat.

Ellen ran to the telephone and gasped out to the operator that she wanted a physician.

She was back at Steven's side again. She remembered that it must be his heart but she did not know what to do. She remembered that when drowning people were being resuscitated they must be kept warm, and tore the coverlet from the bed and wrapped it around his cold, rigid body. She tried to get Steven into the bed, but his weight resisted all her efforts.

All the time she was thinking, "He is my husband and he's dying. He'll never know that I'd rather die instead."

She was weeping, pleading that he should hear her when the telephone rang shattering. Like a person in a trance Ellen answered. It was Syms calling Steven. She told him Steven was dying. She heard him say he would send doctors and come at once. For the first time she saw that her pajamas were torn. She remembered too that she must locate Fergus and get him to help her.

She could find no bell. Ellen wrapped the rosy negligee around her and started across the cold waxed floors in her bare feet. Hardly out of the door she felt a great fear that she would return to find Steven dead and ran back to his side. She cried out again, begging him to forgive her. She told him that if he died she, too, would die. But he did not answer.

SHE thought she heard someone moving in the hall and was filled with cold horror. Someone knocked. Ellen opened the door and Fergus entered. He had heard the telephone.

He helped her get Steven on the bed. All the time he was staring at her as if to wrest some news from her. His staccato voice expressed sympathy but when she felt those cold eyes on her she knew he lied. There was malice about the man.

"Would madame like to rest until the doctor comes?" he asked.

"How can I rest?" she cried and seated herself in the chair beside the bed. She was trembling.

Just then they heard an automobile horn. Ellen ran to the window and saw the flash of headlights. After a wait that seemed endless the doctor came into the room. In the grip of nightmare Ellen answered his questions and saw him pour something down Steven's throat. Vertigo swept over her but she sat quietly lest the brisk, efficient man at the bedside should send her away. He had said there was a chance Steven would regain consciousness, so she sat watching, watching the closed eyelids. They did not flicker and Steven's breathing barely stirred the sheet that covered him.

Presently Ellen was sent to wait in the living room beyond. Dr. Westcott told her with professional kindness to lie down but she could not lie down. She could only wait.

Another doctor arrived. Syms arrived. She heard cars sweeping up the driveway and heard the frantic, persistent ringing of the telephone. She heard doors open and shut but she was cut away from the activity and barred from Steven's side. She could only wait.

After a while a nurse rustled into the living room, snapped on the lights and told Ellen to be in readiness for a call. She urged Ellen to drink an ammonia solution but the girl would not nor would she lie down. She sat, pale and still, her hands clasped, her eyes filled with useless, burning tears. She prayed over and over that she might once again speak to Steven and look into his kind, brown eyes.

THE slow hours dragged on toward morning. Syms, haggard and unshaven, came to tell her what they were doing in the room beyond, came to tell her something else as well but she pleaded so frantically to be allowed to return to Steven that he kept silent, wondering, as he looked into her white, still face, if he had not been wrong after all. Presently he went away.

Ellen walked up and down the room and tried to think of Steven dead. The whispers, the alarmed eyes, the quick movements in the room beyond, even her own heart told her that Steven was dying.

The nurse entered again. "What time is it?" Ellen asked dully.

"Half past five."

Ellen saw that dawn was breaking. She thought that soon it would be noon and then night and then noon again. Time would not stop even if Steven died while she waited outside his room. Why wouldn't they let her go to him? She was his wife. She had a right to be at his side. But had she? Ellen covered her face with her hands.

The nurse went away again. The room was very quiet.

Scents of the dawn drifted in from the garden, scents of flowers and grasses. Ellen heard the chirp of awakening birds and somewhere a dog barked.

She thought of home and felt a desperate nostalgia. She wanted to be with those who loved her, to be again in the shabby apartment on Pine street. Everyone was making it plain that she had no place here with her husband.

Ellen knelt by the window and rested her head on the sill. She sobbed out her grief and misery and Syms found her there when he came to tell her that Steven was regaining consciousness. Very gently he told her that she was to go to him.

WISCONSIN MAKES LAST OFFER TO SPEARS

McCarthy Wields Pruning Knife on Yankees Roster

TO GIVE SUNDT JOB IF SPEARS REFUSES TO CONSIDER OFFER

Madison, Wis., March 26.—(U.P.)—Dr. Clarence Spears today was expected to end the long controversy over appointment of a successor to Glenn Thistlethwaite as University of Wisconsin football coach.

The United Press learned exclusively that the Wisconsin board of regents last night agreed to give the post to the Oregon mentor if he will accept by late today. If Spears refuses their final offer, the regents voted to name Guy Sundt, present football assistant, full coach.

Wisconsin authorities feel certain that Spears, with whom they have been negotiating for some time, will take the position. It was revealed that Arlie Mucks, Wisconsin Olympic shot putter, Big Ten referee and close friend of Spears, has gone to Portland and is conferring with the coach there.

In a long distance telephone conversation with Madison, Mucks indicated Spears had made up his mind to come to Wisconsin.

The board of regents definitely eliminated George Veenker, Iowa state coach, from consideration.

Irwin C. Uteritz, director of inter-scholastic athletics, announced after the regents' meeting that there would be no official announcement until Wednesday. The United Press, however, learned from a member of the board of regents that authorities are now confident Spears will come here.

It was pointed out that the Mucks conversation was the first personal contact the Wisconsin institution has had with Spears. No concessions have been made to Spears, the United Press learned, and he will come here as football coach only, without the title of athletic director or a faculty post in the student health service.

Dr. Spears was coach at the University of Minnesota before going to Oregon in 1930.

REVOKE LICENSE OF LEON SEE, MANAGER OF PRIMO CARNERA

Chicago, March 28.—(U.P.)—The manager's license of Leon See, manager of Primo Carnera, has been revoked and he has been indefinitely suspended by the Illinois State Athletic Commission, General John V. Cinnin, chairman, announced today.

See paid a $1,400 fine, due the Italian Boxing Federation, with a check drawn on a New York bank last year to permit Carnera to box King Levinsky here. The check came back from abroad yesterday marked "insufficient funds."

Carnera and See are now in Europe, but the giant Italian boxer is expected to return to his country soon to negotiate for a bout with Jack Dempsey at Reno, Nev., July 2 or 4.

Chicago, March 29.—(U.P.)—Mickey Walker and King Levinsky are signed to contracts to meet in a 10-round bout for the Chicago stadium next month but the match isn't made yet.

Mrs. Lena Levy, sister manager of Levinsky, has signed a contract calling for Levinsky to get 30 per cent, and specifying that Walker will not be paid more than Levinsky. Jack Kearns, Walker's manager, signed several days ago for the match, the contract calling for Walker to get 35 per cent.

Thus Kearns will have to accept a 5 per cent cut and sign a new contract for the match to be held. The stadium wants the bout for April 15, but the two fighters want it April 29, but the date cannot be selected until Walker's end is settled.

NEW FORD V-8 TO GO ON EXHIBITION IN CITIES THURSDAY

The new Ford V-8, the first Ford to break from the four-cylinder class, will go on exhibition Thursday at dealers' salesrooms in 200 cities in the United States and Canada, Edsel B. Ford has announced.

Simultaneous with the announcement the company made public the following details of the new car:

The new Ford, capable of 75 miles an hour, will develop 65 brake horsepower with the V-8. The new Ford will develop 50 horsepower and do 65 miles an hour.

Outstanding features will include: silent synchronized gear shift and silent gear, engine rubber mounted, down shaft carburetor and carburetor silencer, automatic spark control, and a diaphragm type pump which draws fuel from a rear tank. There are self-adjusting Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, four-wheel brakes, electrically welded steel-spoke wheels with large hubs and hub caps and large tires. The chassis and running gear are cushioned by rubber insulators in spring shackles and shock absorber links. The body is insulated from the frame by rubber pads.

"Either may be had in 14 different body types," Ford's announcement said. "Except for the engines there is but little difference between the two cars. Bodies and chassis are practically the same."

"There will be, however, a difference in price. For while the V-8 will sell at low priced field figures, the 4 will sell for still less."
